

SCOTTISH FOLD

GENERAL STANDARD

The Scottish Fold cat occurred as a spontaneous mutation in Scotland. Overall, it is a well-rounded cat of medium bone, with small, folded ears, giving the breed its distinctive appearance. Males are generally larger than females.

HEAD: Well rounded with prominent cheeks, has well-defined whisker pads and is well set on a short neck. Allowance should be made for jowls in adult males. In profile, the head is rounded, balanced front and back, with a slight nose stop and good depth of chin.

EARS: Small, folded forwards and downwards. A very small, tightly folded ear is preferred to a loose fold and a large ear. The ears must be set well apart, in a cap-like fashion, forming part of the rounded contour of the head. The tips are rounded.

EYES: Large, well-rounded, well opened, with the width of an eye between the eyes, creating a sweet expression.

NOSE: Short and broad. In profile, it has a gentle curve. A slight stop is permitted, but a definite nose break is a fault.

CHEEKS: Prominent and rounded, with well-defined whisker pads.

JAWS: Rounded, not pointed, pinched or square.

CHIN: Firm. In profile, of good depth and in a vertical line with the tip of the nose.

NECK: Short.

BODY: Medium, rounded and well padded with no hint of coarseness. It has a level back, good depth of chest and is equal in girth from shoulder to rump.

LEGS: Strongly boned and of medium length. There should be no stiffness or lack of mobility due to distortion or rigidity in the leg bones and joints.

PAWS: Neat and well rounded.

TAIL: Medium to long, in proportion to the body, reasonably broad at the base, flexible along the entire length and tapering. A longer tapering tail is preferred.
